

We All Must Dream

©2018 Bethany Tolley. All rights reserved.

I sat on my couch when the thought came to me staring at a movie
heart strings pulled tight baffled by the images of a moonlit night

I gazed at the screen in ardent disbelief What's that like?
Where can he be?
The guy that would talk like that to me

My heart flipped and my stomach curdled
I didn't want to think I didn't want to know If this picture's remotely true where did— /—wrong go?

The song, it sang, from my head to my toes
Here you must stay Here you must wait
Heart strings broke, SNAP
I cried for my own sake

I wondered then, didn't know why I watched beyond my grasp movies like this love so true
I could only wish

Yet the thought came on, like inspiration hope is alive
true love is a theme
"hearts can be healed" it said
"We all must dream"